DIRECT GRANTS & PROGRAM SUPPORT: FIVE YEAR HISTORY

PROGRAM FUNDING BY SUBJECT

We love seeing grants that we award to teachers increase every year, but what's more important to us is the quality of experiences our grants provide for students. We share with you here how your support has a direct impact on the educational experience of our students, creating young people who are not just academically prepared, but also prepared and inspired to make a positive contribution to their community and beyond.

We are proud of the projects we support! They broaden opportunity and encourage all of our students to excel—like Camp Sudo and Be A Scientist, on the following page. Also on these pages are projects that foster connection—to nature, to fellow students, and toward community—like Inquiry Day Forest Play, Identity Safe Literature, and our Berkeley Schools Volunteers program. These projects help develop responsible, socially aware, civic-minded young people who feel supported by their peers and community.

Our Community Partnerships with local cultural institutions like the Berkeley Repertory Theatre and the Berkeley Symphony are creating access for all students to arts enrichment. We want to ensure that every student in our public schools receives the benefit of growing up in our unique, culturally rich city.

Thank you for helping us inspire and empower an extraordinary public education for Berkeley schoolchildren, an investment in today and tomorrow. We hope you will continue to support us.

IN DIRECT GRANTS &
PROGRAM SUPPORT

Teacher grants are at the heart of the Schools Fund's work. We support every grade level at every public school in Berkeley. Here are four of the 26 Strategic Impact grants we awarded in 2015-16:

PRESCHOOL: INQUIRY DAY FOREST PLAY

LeConte's youngest students and their teachers took monthly field trips to Joaquin Miller Park for a day of play in the redwood forest. Regular play in nature improves a range of life and academic skills and teachers were thrilled with the enthusiasm of their students who loved being in the forest, rain or shine!

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL: IDENTITY-SAFE LITERACY

Elementary School libraries received 500 books to broaden student engagement in conversations and thinking about identity, stereotypes, and building cultural competency. The goal is to create classrooms supportive of myriad identities which increase students' empathy, achievement, and a sense of belonging.

MIDDLE SCHOOL: BE A SCIENTIST

Year Two of "Be a Scientist" saw a total of 114 UC Berkeley graduate students, post-docs, and faculty coaching 540 7th grade students through the process of conducting scientific investigations. A Willard teacher described the first day of student experimentation as his "single best day of teaching—ever!"

HIGH SCHOOL: CAMP SUDO

Last summer, 14 BHS students were invited to attend Camp Sudo to learn to code and build websites from scratch. Students were given their own computer and individualized instruction from UC students, plus they were paired with a mentor through the school year, so they could continue to explore and grow their new skills.

STUDENT SUCCESS

“Your generous funds helped me offer rich and diverse art projects to my young artists. With the quality materials and inspiring books, students were engaged in the joys and challenges of making art.”

— LUCY AMES

TEACHER OPPORTUNITY

“Thank you so much for all you do to support our teachers and students. We are so lucky to work in Berkeley and to have this resource to support learning and teaching in our district!”

TEACHER SPOTLIGHT

Jefferson 1st Grade teacher, Susanne Reed, received a Schools Fund Summer Fellowship for a conference at Harvard: Closing the Achievement Gap: Strategies for Equity with Excellence. Now the Vice-Principal at Malcolm X Elementary, Susanne wrote of her experience, “The four-day conference was filled with so much information. We explored teaching quality and most importantly, the lives of the children we serve. It felt good to be a student again, and to have time to receive this quality education. I was excited, I was engaged, I want to change the world. Most of all, I want to provide the feeling I had this summer to every student at my school.”

This summer, 25 BUSD science teachers from all grade levels spent two days engaged in a professional development “summer institute” to implement the Next Generation Science Standards (NGSS). Longfellow 8th grade science teacher and District science teacher leader, Matt Hinckley, was awarded a Strategic Impact Grant for the training. Teachers were recruited from all school sites to take part in the summer institute and to be science instructional leaders after their training.

As Hinckley wrote in his grant application, “The science teachers in Berkeley schools want to improve their own teaching strategically and collaboratively, and the summer institute is an opportunity to do that.” The institute programming was developed and presented in collaboration with Community Resources for Science, a Schools Fund Community Partner, with a focus on understanding, assessing, and creating teaching materials and projects in better alignment with NGSS.

The institute was a success and “instrumental in our transition to NGSS.” Hinckley shared: “These new standards aren’t just about buying a new curriculum; they’re about changing how, how much, and even why science is taught. Having the time and space for teachers who are passionate about science teaching to learn and collaborate, was key to getting the ball rolling and would not have been possible without the generous support of the Berkeley Public Schools Fund.”

VOLUNTEER SPOTLIGHT

Last year BSV placed Tory, a Cal Education student, in Carla Gayden's kindergarten class at Malcolm X. Both volunteer and teacher had a fantastic experience. Tory writes, "I feel like I learned so much about what it means to be a teacher. It's not just teaching material on math, reading, science, and other subjects. It's about developing the path of children's socio-emotional growth and self-esteem." Ms. Gayden shared, "Tory developed strong relationships with each student in the classroom. She is an exemplary role model and caring problem solver. I value her patience, her equitable approach, and her sense of humor with the kids."

At the start of the 2015-16 school year, Berkeley Schools Volunteers (BSV) began a program redesign to bring the 22-year-old program back to its beginnings as a single-mission volunteer program. In the years leading up to the 2015-16 school year, BSV had taken on a growing role facilitating the school placements of volunteers for a number of other organizations. The goal now is to focus solely on developing our volunteer base, fostering long-term, consistent relationships between our teachers and volunteers. By pairing our BSV volunteers from the greater Berkeley community with our teachers, we are creating a deeper connection with our schools and our students' success.

Some of these dedicated BSV volunteers are future teachers experiencing real-world classrooms in preparation for their careers. In partnership with UC Berkeley's Graduate School of Education, BSV offers UC Berkeley students the opportunity to earn academic credit while volunteering in our schools. Through this partnership, these education students have an opportunity to work with and learn from some of Berkeley's best teachers over a few years. Placements are made in Pre-K through 12th grade—in classrooms, libraries, gardens, and after school tutoring programs. The ongoing relationships they have with our teachers and students can be life changing for all.

VOLUNTEER IMPACT

“Volunteering has given me a sense of purpose and has reaffirmed my desire to be a teacher. Volunteering is an essential task for future educators; it teaches patience, resilience, consistency and creativity.”

PARTNER SPOTLIGHT

After their experience with Berkeley Rep's Story Builders program, Ms. Rossi's class at Jefferson Elementary made a short film, "Persevere: The Wilma Rudolph Movie." It tells the story of the first American woman to win three gold medals at the 1960 Summer Olympics. The class entered the film into the Bay Area International Children's Film Festival where it won the award for Children's Choice Ages 7 and Up and was referred to as the "darling of the festival." Ms. Rossi said, "The students were able to move so much of what they learned in Story Builders into our language arts curriculum. We used these skills to write, narrate, and act in 'Persevere.'"

Community Partnership grants recognize the outstanding intellectual and cultural resources that we are fortunate to have in Berkeley. Under the umbrella of Strategic Impact grants, last year five local organizations were funded to carry out valuable programs in our schools that promote equity and excellence:

Berkeley Symphony: In its 24th year, the Symphony's Music in the Schools program serves all elementary schools with in-school concerts and in-class sessions led by Symphony musicians, plus professional coaching for middle school music instrumental groups.

Community Resources for Science (CRS): CRS provides K-8 teachers with science curriculum resources and professional development plus in-class lessons led by professional scientists and engineers.

Berkeley Repertory Theatre: Offered for every 3rd grade class, the Story Builders program uses sound, movement, dialogue, and improvisation to turn elementary classrooms into a living theater.

WriterCoach Connection: Offering one-on-one coaching for middle school and high school students, WriterCoach Connection helps students master crucial writing skills.

Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory: Every 5th grader in Berkeley schools gets to visit the Berkeley Lab Adventure Zone (BLAZES) for hand-on activities, lab visits, and to meet scientists.

Thanks to our Community Partners for broadening educational opportunities for Berkeley students!

STANLEY & JUDITH
LUBMAN

Stanley and Judith Lubman were Berkeley school parents forty years ago, but today, thanks to their longterm support, children in Berkeley still benefit from the Lubman's core belief that every child deserves a high quality public education. When the Lubmans started donating to the Schools Fund, they felt that they owed more to the Berkeley community than their charitable giving reflected. We want to thank the Lubmans for being long term, generous donors who represent the kind of civic-mindedness that makes Berkeley such a great place to live and raise children.

CHRIS HUDSON
& CINDY CHANG

Chris and Cindy have supported the Berkeley Public Schools Fund and their school PTAs for the past 15 years as Berkeley school parents. They believe that a robust public school education is critical to the overall development of healthy and engaged citizens. "We are proud to continue our support of the Berkeley Public Schools Fund now that our kids have graduated. It's the only organization that supports all the schools in the district and it takes our schools from good to excellent." Chris and Cindy's big picture thinking drives them to be dedicated supporters and we thank them for it!

WORKPLACE GIVING & HONORARY MEMORIAL CONTRIBUTIONS:

BerkeleyPublicSchoolsFund.org/AR1516

We are deeply grateful to our donors, without whom our work would not exist. If we have inadvertently omitted your name, mis-printed your name, or mis-categorized your gift, please let us know by emailing Valerie Kratzer at valeriekratzer@berkeley.net.

GIVING TO THE FUTURE

Ensure the continuation of our work by making a bequest to the Berkeley Public Schools Fund. A bequest is a simple and flexible way to meet your own estate and financial goals while providing an ongoing legacy commitment to public education in Berkeley for generations to come. One hundred percent of proceeds we receive from bequests go directly toward supporting teachers and students in Berkeley. Please contact the Schools Fund to learn more: schoolsfund@berkeley.net.

SPRING LUNCHEON: LET THE MUSIC PLAY

Last year's Spring Luncheon theme was "Let the Music Play," honoring the rich musical legacy of Berkeley's public schools. Music education is a source of community pride, and every year we help maintain one of the great benefits of public education in Berkeley by dedicating a large percentage of funding to music programs from preschool to high school.

The 2016 Spring Luncheon featured beautiful performances by LeConte Elementary Third Graders, the Longfellow Middle School Mariachi Band, and the Berkeley High Chorus. Visual and Performing Arts Supervisor Pete Gidlund, and BHS Music teacher Karen Wells, shared stories from Berkeley's music education programs. And we raised a record amount of donations to help fund grants for the 2016-17 school year!
